On the right, where the French join the Americans, the French today took Siney, 8 miles south of Mezeres, and Frenoy, about one mile east of Sedan, capturing 1500 prisoners and much material.

London, Nov. 8.—The British advanced along the whole active battle front today, Field Marshal Haig announces, capturing two villages between Mons and Maubeuge.

No Delay in A. P. Dispatches

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, Nov. 8.—News dispatches of the Associated Press from Europe are coming through without delay and with the censorship no sharper than usual. These dispatches tell of advances in the vicinity of Sedan and the capture of villages and prisoners.

RURAL SCHOOLS MAY NOW OPEN

Co. Supt. Miller, in response to a telegram sent Dr. Drake of the State Board of Health, has been advised the rural schools may re-open on the consent of the proper authorities, which in the rural townships are the Supervisor, Town Clerk and Assessor. Mr. Miller recommends that where such schools are opened the teachers be especially diligent in watching for any indisposition on the part of any of the pupils.

SOUTH DIXON WAR RELIEF

The committee in charge of the United War Work campaign in South Dixon announced this morning that committees will be at every school house in the township Monday between the hours of 12 and 4 o'clock p. m. and each citizen of the township is expected to call and make his or her subscription to the committee at his individual school house. A fifty per cent over-subscription is asked for in the township.

Chicago Tribune, Member of Both Associated and United Press Tells Tale

THE "GREATEST HOAX"

(The following is from this morning's Chicago Tribune, a newspaper which is a member of both the Associated Press and United Press associations.)

New York, Nov. 7.—False reports that Germany had accepted the terms of the armistice and that fighting had ended threw the country into a delirium today and turned out to be the greatest hoax of recent years.

Official assurances that the report was false failed to check the almost riotous demonstrations which swept over many American cities.

A dispatch cabled from France to the United Press by its own president, Roy W. Howard, and picked up and circulated through the country by another news agency declared the armistice signed at 11 o'clock this morning and fighting ended at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

U. S. Troops Still Fighting.

Official dispatches from France to the state department at Washington testify that the German commissioners were not even to meet Marshal Foch until 5 o'clock this afternoon and dispatches received tonight from the American army on the Sedan front show that at 6:30 p. m. the

People of Lee County Must Not Fail To Do Their Duty Voluntarily

POLLS ARE TO BE OPEN

Monday, November 11th is the day we call at our precinct polling place and make a payment on our debt of gratitude to the boys "over there"—the money to be administered by the officially recognized organizations looking after our boys' interests—spiritual, mental and physical.

Voluntarily we want to go early to polling places, open at 8 a. m., and to pay. Your precinct has a quota to raise. Your part is figured in it. No one else can pay it. The boys we sent across can fight for us but we don't want to ask any one to pay for us.

The Kaiser is groaning under the punch of our boys and the Allies "over there." Let us over here demonstrate on Monday that we are also there with the punch. Do the big thing on Monday—make your precinct 100%.

THE PRESIDENT NAILS FAKE

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Wilson directed Secretary of State Lansing to make the following statement public today, which he did, shortly after noon:

"I am requested and authorized by the president to state that no information reaching this government concerning the armistice negotiations has been withheld, and that any statement to the contrary is utterly false. As soon as a definite decision regarding the armistice has been reached it will be immediately made public by this government."

(Note to Editors from Secretary Lansing: The secretary of state requests that the greatest possible display be given the statement issued by him a few moments ago.)

TOOK 8 FLAGS FROM PORCHES

The police have been informed that the school children who paraded yesterday in celebration of the false peace report, took flags from the porches of eight houses along the line of march. If they will return the flags to the owners no further action will be taken.

German White Flag Bearers Reached Foch Headquarters To Receive Armistice Terms At 9 A. M. Today, Paris Time—If They Desire To Confer With Berlin About Terms They May Have 3 Days In Which To Do So

GRANT GEMANY 72 HOURS TO MAKE DECISION

BULLETIN

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Nov. 8 (1:37 P. M.).—The following official notice has been made public by the war office:

"The German delegates arrived this morning at Marshal Foch's headquarters. They made a formal demand for an armistice. The text of the conditions of the allies was read and delivered to them. They asked for a cessation of arms. It was refused them. The enemy have 72 hours to answer."

The German armistice delegation has been handed a formal demand to accept or refuse the armistice terms before 11 o'clock Monday morning, French time.

Marshal Foch has definitely refused the German request to grant an immediate provisional cessation of hostilities before the signing of the armistice.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Nov. 8.—The American government was notified just before noon today that Marshal Foch has received the German delegates seeking the terms on which Germany may quit, at 9 o'clock this morning, Paris time. The announcement of the beginning of the conference which may end the war, according to the state department dispatches, say that the German envoys, after reading the surrender terms which were handed them by the allied commander-in-chief, will be given a brief time to consider whether they must communicate with Berlin before signing them, in which event they will be given 72 hours to report the result of their deliberations.

Wild Rumors Cause Anxiety

The anxiety among officials of the government over the renewal of wild and premature peace demonstrations started yesterday by a false report that an armistice had been signed, was almost equal to their interest in the outcome of the armistice negotiations.

Believe Germans Must Surrender

Everywhere it is believed that the Germans are beaten and that their surrender will not long be delayed. Word that drastic conditions under which the United States and the allies will allow hostilities to stop, have been accepted, is awaited with calm confidence.

Great Damage From Fake Report

But they deplore the premature celebration, in which lives have been lost, property destroyed, grave conditions resulted and material interruption of industrial and business conditions.

President Issued Denial of Story

President Wilson himself took cognizance of the danger of premature peace celebrations and directed Secretary Lansing to issue a denial of the persistent statement that news of the armistice was being withheld and promising to announce

PEACE HOAX SERIOUS DAMAGE TO MARKETS

LaSalle Street Markets In Chicago Call It Ser- ious Imposition

Chicago Herald-Examiner: Unless Germany has signed an armistice by the time the stock exchanges open today Wall street and LaSalle street will have been the victims of the most serious imposition in the annals of finance.

An hour after the bourses had opened a news agency announced Germany had accepted the ground arms terms of the United States and the allies. The announcement was without qualifications. It had, apparently, all the earmarks of officiality.

Although it came unexpectedly, it was not questioned on the exchanges. Its brevity and positiveness seemed stamped by official sanction.

A dull and lowering stock market was transformed with electric suddenness into a boom in the so-called peace stocks and a slump in the ammunition shares. But the buoyancy in the former issues became so pronounced and dominant that the effect became inductive, all securities were carried forward buoyantly.

Market Goes Wild
With succeeding half hours the trading increased. Its volume and intensity reached a degree that alarmed stock exchange authorities. The movement was running wild, was swiftly getting beyond control.

The average brokerage house could not execute all the orders offered. Wire houses—firms outside New York—could not guarantee executions with any sort of promptitude, so crowded were the wires.

Accordingly, the governors of the exchanges resorted to an amiable subterfuge. The secretaries announced from the rostrums that business would cease half an hour earlier than usual, that the members might have an opportunity to celebrate the virtual advent of peace.

The ruse did not, however, deceive any one. It was generally recognized that the market pace was becoming too fast for the exchanges' present facilities. It had to be curbed.

Brokers' Offices Thronged
The scenes outside of the stock exchange were being duplicated on the stock exchange. An infatuation was quickly developing.

Brokers' offices were packed with people who were filling orders indiscriminately. In the curtailed session 18,483,000 bonds were bought on the exchange. This irrespective of the purchases over the counter in bond houses and banks.

In the same time—four and a half hours—1,117,000 shares of stock changed hands.

None doubted the authenticity of the armistice announcement. Once in circulation it was taken as a matter of course.

WHOLE NATION GOES 'BUGHOUSE' ON FAKE PEACE YARN THURS.

Industry Checked While Na- tion Turns Out To "Celebrate"

FACTORIES SUSPEND Wildest Scenes Imaginable In Chicago and New York

New York, Nov. 7.—When the sirens blew and the church bells rang at noon in answer to the great fake rumor that Germany had signed the armistice terms a city of 6,000,000 persons who had been going steadily along attending to business suddenly went "bughouse."

Employees going out to lunch forgot to get it and did not return to work. Factories, stores and shops dismissed their people for the day and instantly the streets were jammed with cheering men, women and children.

Forbidden guns and pistols were discharged and batteries of machine gun nests were let loose. Street cars, automobiles, trucks and vehicles of every description were crowded with cheering people waving flags and blowing horns and whistles. The colors were displayed from every conceivable point.

All Fools' Day.
The schools were dismissed and a million children poured yelling into the streets. Pandemonium was a churchyard compared to it. It was All Fools' day, Halloween, and the carnival rolled into one billow of merriment and joyful tumult. Men and women embraced on the streets. Tears ran down the cheeks of thousands whose lips smiled.

The Avenue of Allies became the Avenue of Nuts. Under the flags of the nations waving gloriously in the sun marched or straggled millions of people cheering and dancing.

Patriotic Snowstorm.
From the top of high buildings and from upper windows there descended on the crowds below great clouds of red, white and blue confetti to litter the streets ankle deep. This was gathered and thrown upon the passersby by the boys and girls. Young women hooked arms with soldiers and sailors they had never seen before and went singing and laughing into the cafes and restaurants.

Wall and Bread streets' sober financiers did fandangoes on the pavement. In the foreign settlements the excitement was even more intense. The narrow, bunting-hung streets were impassable. The colors of Italy, Czechoslovakia, France and Latin America were mingled with the Stars and Stripes. Even in Chinatown there was a lavish display.

Production at a Standstill.
The false rumor spread to Jersey and along Long Island sound and munition factories and shipbuilding plants closed, their employees pouring out to jubilate. The har madone in these quarters was incalculable.

About 4 o'clock the newspapers denied the rumor, but it made no difference to the crowd. Even those who realized they had been humbugged went on making noise. As night came the clamor increased, if that were possible. Darkness furnished a shield for greater license. Many bars broke the law and sold liquor to soldiers and sailors.

Tonight it was difficult to get a seat at the restaurants or theaters. At the latter performances were often interrupted with cheering and blowing of horns.

Clamor in New England.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—Boston and many other New England cities held impromptu celebrations today when an unconfirmed report that Germany had signed an armistice became current. Even when it was learned that the report was not credited, parades were not abandoned and bells and whistles continued their clamor. One of the largest processions was composed of workers from the army supply base in South Boston. In manufacturing centers workers joined in the demonstrations, men carrying picks, shovels and other tools.

Chicago Was Wild.
Chicago, Nov. 8.—It began with a rumor and ended in the most madly riotous scene that Chicago has ever witnessed.

"The war's over. The Kaiser's licked!"
Men ran from reading ticker bulletins to shout the news. It reached the crowds in the streets. A murmur sounded through the loop. The murmur became a rumble, then a roar, to finally burst into an uproar of shrieking pandemonium.

Spreads Over City.
Telephone messages carried the news like lightning to all parts of the city. Factory whistles loosed shriek on shriek. The clangor of street car gongs became continuous as motormen heard the rumor. Motorists threw open their mufflers to add the ear splitting explosions of their cutouts to the deafening volume of discordant sound.

"The war's over. The Kaiser's licked!"
Horns began sounding from one end of the loop to the other. The stores were being stripped of every noise making instrument imaginable. Men and boys appeared rolling huge garbage cans, beating them with clubs. Cowbells, cymbals, dishpans added to the uproar. Old men marched down the street beating children's drums. Gray-haired women hammered on skillets, fresh from some 5 and 10 cent store. The loop was going mad.

Tear Up Phone Books.
The air was filled with flying bits of paper. Tons and tons of it were scattered from the windows of skyscrapers until it looked as if a mighty snowstorm were sweeping the city. The streets became carpeted with it. Long streamers of paper hung from trolley wires and fire escapes. Confetti filled the air. Leaves torn from telephone directories littered the pavements.

Men leaned from office building windows and fired revolvers. At detective agencies rifles barked above the heads of the screaming thousands below.

"The war's over. The Kaiser's licked!"

In vain the newspapers sent out bulletin after bulletin that the armistice had not yet been signed and that the German envoys and the representatives of the allied nations had hardly gone into conference. People bought newspapers not to read but to tear into bits to be thrown into the air. In vain cool heads pleaded for moderation until the news should be confirmed. They were howled down by shrieking thousands.

Stores Forced to Close.
Half-crazed men dashed into stores and offices to cry out the rumor. Floor walkers headed processions of saleswomen, cash girls and clerks who marched shrieking through the aisles of the great department stores. Hardware counters were deluged of noise-making material. The stores were finally forced to close.

Work was suspended everywhere. The stockyards plants were forced to close at 2 o'clock. Factories shut down when the workers left to hurry to the loop, which had become a magnet drawing thousands from miles around. From residence districts came more thousands by street car, elevated train and automobile.

Parade in the Rain.
Rain began to fall, but still the maddened thousands continued to shriek and march and sing. Umbrellas were raised to add to the crazy confusion in the streets. Finally, however, the rain prevailed and the crowds sought shelter in theaters or started for home, exhausted but still shrieking feebly. By 6 o'clock the storm of noise that had raged since morning had diminished.

As the day wore on joy became delirium. The highways and byways of the loop became impassable. Street corners were maelstroms in which men, women and children were buffeted, swept this way and that, regardless of direction, by the maddened revelers. Women fainted in the crush and were carried into stores to be revived. Children were knocked down and barely rescued from a fearful death from trampling feet.

Miss Hattie Mulkins spent Tuesday in Chicago.

BRIAN DETERMINES TO SEE MANDEL

CHAPTER LXXXIX

Brian tried to put what Beckly had said out of his mind, but vainly. He had said that Mandel would cut him out if he didn't take care of Ruth. "That handsome wife of yours," had been the way he spoke of her. From the very first day that Ruth had gone to work, Brian had felt a smoldering jealousy of Mandel. On occasion, he had put it into words—as when Ruth's salary had been raised the first time. He had always been suspicious that Mandel paid her liberally because he was in love with her. Brian never had underrated Ruth's attractions, and now, after Beckly's tactless speech, was inclined to overrate them.

"D—Beckly!" he ejaculated after he had tossed and tumbled for an hour, unable to sleep. "And a—Mandel! They think I am easy, but they'll find out before I'm thru with them." Just why he should associate Beckly and Mandel in his feeling regarding Ruth, it would have been hard to say. Of course Beckly was jealous of him because Mollie preferred him. "Why shouldn't she?" he said to himself with his usual egotism, Mollie had some sense. She was a discriminating kid. But, try as he would to dismiss them, Beckly's words persisted in haunting and disquieting him.

He never had seen Mandel to know him in spite of Ruth's oft-repeated request that he come to the shop. He would make it a point to see him while Ruth was away. Beckly had called him her "swell boss"; it was belittling to have his wife spoken of as having a "boss," at least any but him. He'd punch Beckly's head the next time he came near him.

But all his resolves helped not at all as far as sleeping was concerned; and Brian lay awake nearly all night thinking, wondering one minute if he had cause to be jealous of Mandel; the next, deciding that he did, and that Ruth must leave immediately she came home.

He was so grouchy at breakfast that Rachel grumbled to herself, in the kitchen: "e's stayin' out too late. He ain't up to no good doin' so, when missy Ruth is done gon' away."

"I'll be home to dinner, Rachel," he said shortly as he started for the office.

"All right, Massa Hackett, Rachel'll give you de bes' dinner she kin, she sho'll will," pleased that he was coming home. The old negress was often lonely when Ruth was away, and altho Brian didn't visit with her as Ruth did, it was someone in the house, and therefore company for her.

"Have dinner at seven," he said, then almost repented that he had told Rachel he would come home. It would be horribly lonely eating alone.

He left the office, however, about four-thirty. Ruth had told him that Mandel usually remained until six o'clock. But he wasn't going to take any chances. He'd locate the fellow, then if Ruth was ever with him he couldn't be deceived. He had known of Mandel taking Ruth and her aunt to lunch; of the opera tickets, etc. But he had laid it all to his desire to impress Mrs. Clayborne, a very wealthy woman, who might in the future become a customer. Someway while her aunt had been with her, he had had no thought of being jealous of Mandel. Perhaps because of Ruth's absolute taking it for granted that he would be pleased at the attention to her aunt, their guest.

Brian reached the block upon which Mandel's shop was situated before he remembered that he had formed no plans as to how he should find out who was Mandel—how he was to differentiate him from the men he employed.

Halting opposite, he walked back and forth several times. Finally he crossed the street and spoke to the carriage man who stood near the curb.

"Has Mr. Mandel gone home yet?" he asked without too much interest. "No, sir! he will be going in a few minutes. That's his car."

"Very well. I'll smoke while I wait," Brian said, then walked leisurely away. When the fellow's back was turned he stationed himself in a doorway next the shop where he could both see and hear without any danger of being observed.

He had waited but a few moments when he saw a man leave the shop. He was shorter than himself, but so well-groomed, with a manner of such assurance, that it did not need the mention of his name or the obsequious attention of the carriage man to assure him that Mandel had at last appeared.

"Ruth's swell boss!" he exclaimed bitterly, as he watched Mandel seat himself in his car, and give orders to the chauffeur. Even the respectful way the man touched his hat, Brian took as a personal affront. All those things were what Ruth had been accustomed to before he took her from her home where servants did her bidding, and where she was a pampered woman instead of a working one. He ground his teeth savagely as he swung up the avenue in the wake of the car.

When he reached home, Rachel almost wished he had remained out, as usual, he was in such a vile humor and found so much fault with her.

Mother, whose hands rock the cradle, often needs more than ordinary food to help maintain the blood-quality and strength and to assure adequate nourishment to the child. ## immediately any news concerning the subject. Armistice Conference Started Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Nov. 8.—The German armistice envoys entered conference with Marshal Foch at 9 o'clock this morning, French time, the state department announced officially (three a. m. to-day, Dixon time).

May Give Three Days' Grace

The announcement was also made that if it is found the German delegates must refer the armistice terms to Berlin, 72 hours from the time that decision is reached, will be allowed them in which to answer.

Can Only Sign Truce Terms

An official diplomatic dispatch from France this morning said that Marshal Foch is empowered only to deliver the armistice terms and to receive the acceptance. He has been told that peace is not the business of the military.

Any suspension of hostilities before the armistice is signed, if asked on philanthropic grounds, is out of the question.

JEWS AND PROTESTANT S UNITE IN PUTTING UNITED STATES OVER TOP IN WAR WORK DRIVE

Chicago, Nov. 8.—One of the biggest factors in putting the United War Work Campaign, November 11 to 18, over the top and also in securing the fifty percent over-subscription, necessary for meach state, will be the cooperation of the one hundred thousand Protestant churches and Jewish synagogues throughout the country. Almost without exception each individual church in every denomination has enlisted in the drive and is awaiting the "opening gun."

About one hundred thousand Protestant clergymen have been reached with a direct appeal for their active support in the campaign and all churches supporting the drive, both Protestant and Catholic, will display specially prepared posters of which 200,000 will be distributed. Special posters will also be provided for the Jewish synagogues.

"The enthusiasm of the Protestant denominations for the campaign is tremendous," Dr. John McDowell, in charge of the organization of Protestant churches and pastor of the Brown Memorial Presbyterian church, Baltimore, has announced. "In addition to the general appeal to Protestant clergymen, which have been sent to Methodist, Episcopal, North Baptists, Congregationalists, Salvationists, Presbyterians and other leading Protestant bodies, we have communicated directly with practically every pastor in their respective denominations. Not one of the Protestant churches will be found lagging when the final returns are reckoned up."

In addition to the extensive organization for the drive in Continental United States, representatives of the United War Work campaign have been sent to Porto Rico, Cuba, Mexico and Panama, while Hawaii and the Philippine Islands have effected their own campaign organizations. All of these outlying territories have accepted liberal quotas and without exception promise large over-subscriptions where the health conditions permit.

Huge mass meetings have been scheduled for the week of the drive. Men and women of National importance have been enlisted as speakers, among them being Governor Arthur Capper of Kansas; Governor Walter E. Edge of New Jersey; Mrs. August Belmont, Irvin S. Cobb, Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university; Burton Holmes, Judge Alton B. Parker, Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, William J. Schiefflin, Oscar S. Strauss, Rev. Dr. Hugh Black, well known Scotch preacher; Mrs. Margaret Deland, authoress, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Dean Shailer Mathews, editor an educator; Sherwood Eddy, of International Y. M. C. A.; Judge Ben Lindsey and Francis B. Sayre, son-in-law of President Wilson.

CONGRESS REPUBLICAN; SENATE BY TWO AND HOUSE BY 40 MARGIN

Latest Election Returns
Show G. O. P. Will Ratify
Peace Terms

SOUTH OFF OF SADDLE

Twelve States Carried By Wilson In 1916 Swing
To Republicans

Washington, Nov. 8.—A Republican senate will ratify the terms of peace and with a Republican house will deal with the vast problems of reconstruction the country will face at the close of the war.

This was definitely established yesterday when additional returns from the congressional election confirmed the earlier indications that the senate will be Republican by a majority of at least two and the house Republican by a majority now fixed at approximately forty.

Completion of the returns from New Mexico showed that Senator Fall, Republican, had been reelected, thereby assuring a Republican majority of two in the senate, the Republicans numbering forty-nine and the Democrats forty-seven.

Idaho Contest in Doubt.

The short term contest in Idaho still remains in doubt, with Senator Nugent, Democrat, leading Frank R. Gooding, Republican, by 596, with 86,600 of the 95,000 votes counted. If Nugent wins the Republicans still will have a majority of 2. If Nugent loses the Republican majority will be increased to 4.

Michigan was removed from the doubtful list by later returns indicating the defeat of Ford by 7,000.

An increase in the Republican majority in the house was registered by returns showing the election of James D. Gotts, Republican, over Sam C. Major, Democrat, by 41 votes in the Seventh Missouri district.

West Turns to G. O. P.

One of the most striking aspects of the election and one of the utmost significance in connection with political prospects in 1920 is the return to the Republican fold of states, particularly those in the far west, which gave their electoral votes to Wilson two years ago.

The Democratic leaders regarded their unexpected victories in these states in 1916 as indicative of a permanent espousal of Jeffersonianism and counted upon these constituencies to respond impressively to the president's appeal for the return to his party to control of congress. In this respect the Democratic leaders were sorely disappointed.

States carried by President Wilson in 1916 which went Republican last Tuesday were California, Idaho, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Washington and Wyoming.

Massachusetts Changes Sides.

The only state carried by Hughes in 1916 which went over to the Democrats on national issues last Tuesday was Massachusetts, which returns a Democratic senator in place of Senator Weeks, but also a heavily Republican house delegation. New York went Democratic in the governorship as a result of the Whitman third term and other local issues, but returned a house delegation on the majority of which is Republican.

The Democratic south has been hurled from the congressional saddle which it has occupied for eight years and the nation may expect some revolutionary changes in lawmaking. With the passing of Dixie domination, control of the national lawmaking falls largely in the hands of the middle west and far west. This means that the reconstruction program, involving the most important legislation in a century, will be shaped and piloted mainly by senators and representatives from that section of the country.

The boys and girls sell their club pigs tomorrow at Dixon.

NELSON WAR WORK ARRANGED

The Nelson War Work committee, in charge of the campaign there next week, will endeavor to make it a one-day campaign, and it is expected every citizen of the township will call at his respective school house on Monday and make his subscription. A fifty per cent over-subscription is asked. To facilitate the volunteer work the Nelson school will be open from 4 to 9; the Cook school from 2 to 5; the Hill school from 1 to 9; the King school from 5 to 7 and the Walker school from 4 to 8.

Interesting News to the Man Who is Going to Buy A New Suit or Overcoat

Society Brand Clothes

DURING the forthcoming Autumn and Winter all assumption of flourish and flamboyance in Men's Dress, will be as out of place as a Peace pamphlet at a recruiting station. The government so decrees and the trade agrees---not grudgingly, but gladly, feeling honored by the privilege of adding a mite to the might of Our Country in winning the war. The most we stay-at-homes can do is microscopic in comparison with those far-off legions which are gallantly giving their breasts to bullets in pawn for posterity.

Clothing Manufacturers Who Make Clothing for Civilian Wear

are forfeiting all claims for wool for future fabrics. They do this unhesitatingly, for they know the need of our government for every pound of available wool, for making cloths for our soldier's uniforms. So we may add that it's no secret that no fabric for civilian clothes made within the past few months can compare in quality with materials made before our country entered the war.

For Our Patron's Benefit We Wish to Announce

that we have just unpacked Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats made from fabrics carried over from the past season--and bought before the United States entered the war. The purchase price being considerably less at the time this clothing was bought, the materials being of much better quality than you'll get in clothes bought for this Winter even at higher prices

Our Prices On Carried-Over Clothing Remain Unchanged

We're not going to mark it up--and naturally we will not mark it down. The point is this, that suits and overcoats bought here now for Fall and Winter wear--carried over stocks--will prove a good buy and a profitable one, too! Come in and fix yourself for Winter.

SALVATION ARMY GIRLS UNDER FIRE

S. A. HUT NEAR TRENCHES

The extraordinary difficulties under which the Salvation Army workers labor in providing food for the American soldiers and shelter for themselves in France, are revealed in a communication from Capt. Harold Miles, a Salvationist now at the front. The record is one of heroic sacrifice, untold hardship and zeal for humanity and the cause of democracy.

According to Captain Miles, because of the scarcity of labor at the front in France, the work of erecting huts devolves largely upon the Salvation Army lassies themselves, but they never fail to tackle the job with enthusiasm. Inasmuch as those huts are located so close to the firing line as to make them visible to enemy observation posts, the lassies frequently were compelled to cease building operations because of the shellfire their activity had provoked.

"Many huts were erected during the night," says Captain Miles, "but, unfortunately, the completed buildings called for bombardments as soon as daylight disclosed their presence. Only one thing, it was found, remained for the lassies to do, and that was to do the best they could with existing buildings, however dilapidated they were. Many of these were badly marred by shellfire, and, as usual, they were profoundly dirty—quite a different proposition from the clean, portable buildings used in places further to the rear.

"In them are to be found no running water, electric lights, fire-places or stoves. Water must be carried from a well a considerable distance away; candles must answer the lighting requirements, big, smoky army field ranges must be installed and innumerable necessities improvised. I recently visited a place where two lassies, assisted by a score of American soldiers, who, it must be said, gladly volunteer their services in aid of the Salvationists wherever the limitations of leave permit, were converting an old stable into a hut.

"Dust lay inches thick upon the floor, the walls were grimy and dirty, there were manure piles here and there, while broken bottles and debris of every description were scattered about. The sight would have dismayed most persons, but the two Salvation Army girls, smiling and without stopping work, assured me that the place would do beautifully. Within a few days the old stable was as clean as whitewash and paint could make it, so that it seemed a veritable palace to the faded American soldiers who daily made it their headquarters."

Under the direction of the Salvationists, when they are not busy making doughnuts or pies, baseball games and other forms of entertainment are provided for the troops. On Sundays there are religious services held at all the huts and it is a significant fact that they are well attended by happy young men, who, before the world was convulsed by war, scoffed at the Salvationists, but who now are ready to make any sacrifice in their behalf.

It's Acid-Stomach That Makes Millions Sick and Suffer

Life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman with an acid-stomach. Acid-stomach kills Hope, Ambition, Energy, Courage. It saps the strength of the strongest body—impoverishes the blood—causes untold suffering—makes millions weak, unfit and brings on premature old age.

You know what acid-mouth does to teeth and gums—how the acid literally eats through the hard enamel, causing the teeth to decay. Just imagine, then, what havoc an acid-stomach must do to the delicate organization of the stomach. Millions of people are weak and unfit, suffering all the time, in one way or another, from acidity or acid-stomach. They're nervous and irritable; lack power and punch; frequently have severe attacks of indigestion, spitting headaches; subject to fits of melancholia and mental depression. And nearly always their stomachs are out of order, even though many experience no actual stomach pains—digestion poor—never getting anywhere near the full strength from their food.

So, you see, it's just this—acid-stomach—that is holding so many people back—sapping up the strength they should get from their food—taking away their vigor and vitality—leaving them weak and inefficient. Get rid of the excess acid! That's the secret of good health and is the only way to obtain good digestion and assimilation. It is the right way to be well and keep strong. Ordinary tonics won't do any lasting good. The best they can do is to spur up your appetite. When the stimulating effects wear off, you are worse off than ever.

A modern remedy makes it possible to remove excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIC, in the form of pleasant tasting tablets. Their action in the stomach is a good deal like a piece of blotting paper taking up a drop of ink—they literally absorb the injurious excess acid and carry it away through the intestines.

Begin using EATONIC right now—today—and get on the road to bounding, vigorous, vibrant health. Thousands upon thousands of people who have used EATONIC are enthusiastic in its praise. They say they never dreamed that anything could bring them such quick relief.

EATONIC is fully guaranteed. Your druggist will give you a big box for only 50 cents with the distinct understanding that if you are not pleased in every way, you get your 50 cents back. You know your druggist—and you can safely trust him to make this guarantee good.

LETTERS FROM DIXON BOYS WITH UNCLE SAM'S ARMY REPLETE WITH CONFIDENCE AND CONTENT

FROM ROBERT CONNERS.

The following letter of unusual interest to Dixon people, since it tells much of Dixon boys in France; has been received by his father, John Connors, 130 Patrick Court:

France, Oct. 6, 1918.

Dear Father:

I will take time to write you a few lines now, as I don't when I will have another chance. I am sitting beside our cannon, writing these few lines, during a lull in one of the greatest battles that has been or will be fought during this war.

I have been fighting continuously since September 12th, when I was in the greatest drive yet made by the Americans or allies since the war began. It was an all-American drive on the St. Mihiel sector of the battlefield where we drove the Boche, who had been there for four years, like frightened cattle before us, leaving their cannons, supplies, wounded and dead, behind, also thousands of prisoners in our hands. You can judge what kind of a fight it was when I say, and it is not an exaggeration, that more shells were fired in two days and a half than were fired during the whole Civil war. It was Hell itself let loose. No one who was not there can imagine with what fury we fought and won. I was there September 12th, 13th and 14th, when I moved to another front, where on September 26th we started another great drive, with the same success, advancing after three days, taking many towns and liberating over 120 square miles of territory, continuing our advance until October 2nd, when we gave them another great blow, driving the best soldiers in the Boche armies, the Prussian Guards, back, taking many prisoners, also slaughtering them like rats.

Before winter sets in, if we keep up this pace, which we have set, I will write you a letter from the interior of Germany, as we are not far from Germany proper now. You can get the Chicago papers of September 12th, 13th and 14th, also of the 26th, 27th and 28th, and Oct. 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th, and you will see what I have been through. I have not had my clothes off since September 12th, but I can stand it as I think this will be the last of Fritz. We have become so we don't need sleep any more. We all have the same fixed purpose in mind, and that is, finish the Boche! I have been close enough to his trenches to watch him move about. I have been fighting in what the boys call "Death Valley," for three days, with the shells bursting all around us, many of the pieces striking our guns. I got enough gas to make me sick to the stomach, before I could get my mask on, but it did not take me out of the running, as I am a "Morgan," like yourself. We expect to advance any hour now, as Fritz is getting out of our range, and we won't let him do that. I saw an aeroplane hit by an anti-aircraft gun yesterday, during the battle, and the two Boches in it jumped out about 3,000 feet in the air. They were jelly before they hit the ground. Another one was brought down right back of our position and was captured. I have several trinkets I cut off a dead German officer, and several off of live ones. I will send you the piece of a cap of a Boche officer, with a hole in it, where a piece of shell went through, making a good German out of him, which is a dead one. He lay a couple of miles in front of our position. I will send you a helmet and some other things when I get to a place where I can, which I think will be soon, as we will have to have some rest.

I saw "Duke" Kennedy, Joe Mahon, "Spot" Herrington, John Sheehan and Ray Curran, as I was going from one front to another. They all look fine, also had a letter from Will Loftus. I think he was with the boys who went "over the top" after our barrage of September 12.

I received your pictures, also some from Avis and Kittie. I have looked at them a good many times. I hope to be under the shade of the old apple tree in our back yard by July 4th, if we keep our present speed.

Get the newspapers I told you about, and send this letter to Avis and Kittie as I don't know when I will have a chance to write again.

I read the Evening Telegraph quite often, and we keep pretty well posted as to what is going on in Dixon. We hear more than one would expect. Some gossip that all the people in Dixon don't ever hear about.

Well, as it is time to eat our corned beef "and," I will close with love to all.

I am your loving son,

ROBERT CONNERS. Battery C, 123rd H. F. A.

FROM CORP. HUGGINS.

Somewhere in France, Oct. 17, 1918.

Dear Mother:

As I have a few minutes I will drop you a few lines. I am well but still have a little cold. We are back from the front for a few days. They call it a rest camp but I fail to find any rest. This is surely a funny country; it rains all the time; Willard Jones said to say "hello" to dad for him; and "Waddy" Graff says "hello" to everybody. I suppose you got my letter stating that Horace Ort was killed.

Yes, I received your letters and papers regularly now and they surely make a fellow feel good. There surely is a lot of hardship at the front this kind of weather, with shell flying over you and gas and rainy weather. It all goes hard with a fellow. I will tell you all about it pretty soon when I get home.

Is Ray home yet? What is he doing? Tell Ray and Lee Vest that I would give anything to drill them when they get into the army and I surely would give them a good workout. Tell them not to get sore when the sergeant bawls them out for something and not to go away and get in the guard house. How is Meredith Vest, better or worse? I sure hope he gets better.

Well, what are you going to have for Thanksgiving and Christmas? While you are eating think of me over here eating corned beef and hard tack.

I saw Harland Hyde the other day. He is in the Division Headquarters of the 32nd Division.

Guess I had better quit and go to bed and get some sleep. Hoping this finds all of you well. Write soon.

From your loving son,

CORP. L. I. HUGGINS, Battery C, 123rd H. F. A.

These parcels may be sent by the nearest relative in the United States of each individual on his making affidavit at the local Red Cross chapter that he is the "nearest relative." Conditions of shipment of packages and limit of weight are the same as for soldiers' Christmas parcels.

The Question of Profit

The government bureaus say it is fair for merchants to make ten per cent clear and clean. We shall not make such profits. This is a great time in the American business life—a time to try men and to learn who serve and who squeeze. It is not a time to be careless or to be cajoled by fine words. If you let sellers fool you it is much like letting an enemy shoot first, an advantage is lost and losses lengthen the war. The store that serves is doing something of its bit. There is no philanthropy about it, no pretense, no buncombe. To give the utmost for the dollar, to make every sale from the standpoint of service—that's the idea. And our reward, for we are working the plan as a business proposition, is in larger business. We fare better with a small net profit on a large volume of sales than on a big profit with small business.

POINTS TO REMEMBER
WHEN BUYING REAL ESTATE

1st.—See that the neighborhood and surroundings are good, and that transportation to it is satisfactory.

2nd.—Insist that the seller furnishes you with an Abstract of Title.

3rd.—If the seller can't furnish an abstract showing a good title, do not buy. Large investors, like Hetty Green and Sile Tompkins, require this, and you should insist upon receiving the same.

4th.—If you are "trading" properties, see that the other fellow hasn't inflated the price of his property so that he gets yours for nothing.

This is mighty important, for a couple of trades of this kind would put the other fellow in a gilded chariot and you in the County Home.

5th.—Have the property conveyed to yourself and wife by JOINT TENANCY DEED; then if either of you die, the survivor will own the property without the trouble and expense of going thru the Probate Court.

Go to any good lawyer and he will see to it that you receive the above, and that the hired girl doesn't get the property.

The United Press officials tonight continued to contend that the dispatch was true and that censorship had been clamped down to permit simultaneous announcement in all capitals.

In some quarters here the cabled announcement was pronounced "the most colossal fake ever perpetrated upon the American people."

A bottle of Sloan's Liniment is all you need for quick relief from the pains of sprains, bruises, backache, stiffness, and most forms of rheumatic twinges. Generous size bottles at druggists everywhere.
